SHERIFF SAYS SHOT WOMAN TO SAVE OWN LIFE

Victim Slain Trying To Escape In Whisky
Car From Kansan.

Threatened to Shoot Officer, Hanging to Side of Her Auto.

HERRINGTON, Kas., Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Sheriff W. C. Dederick was acquitted as acting in line of duty and self defense here late today at the inquest held into the fatal shooting of Mrs. Louise Horton, pretty liquor runner of Kansas City.

HERRINGTON, Kas., Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—Forty gallons of liquor and a defunct of the law cost titian-haired Louise Horton, 36-year-old woman bootlegger, her life here in a brush with a Kansas sheriff.

Her body lay in a morgue here tonight with a bullet wound, jeweled hands and fine clothes denoting the beginning and the end of her career.

She was shot and killed by Sheriff Whitney C. Dederick in her luxurious automobile in front of the public library here late Friday night after the sheriff had clung to the side of her car in a wild ride.

"A liquor crazed woman with a pistol is a combination which cannot be treated lightly," Sheriff Dederick explained. "It was my life against hers, and I was quicker with my pistol."

"Of course, I am extremely sorry it happened. It's unpleasant and distasteful enough to have to shoot a man."

Threatened to Shoot.

The sheriff, whose accounts were substantiated by fellow officers and several witnesses, said he shot the woman when "liquor crazed and profane," she shouted:

"Jump off, you fool, or I'll kill you."

She pointed a pistol at his side. The sheriff fired from his hip. The bullet killed her and she slumped to the floor of her car as Matthew Harris, her chauffeur, surrendered.

Officers found forty gallons of liquor in the car which the woman apparently was running to Kansas City, her home.

The chauffeur said: "I guess I'll be the goat for all this mess. But I had nothing to do with her bootlegging business. She paid well for my services, so I worked for her." He was vehement in his declarations.

The chauffeur faced probable prosecution on a liquor charge. He said he drove the car in the wild ride of attempted escape because he was afraid the woman would kill him.

Waiting for Couple.

The sheriff and Chief of Police Arthur Calkins, informed in advance of liquor suspicions against the couple, met the pair at a farm near here.

The woman cursed the officers. "Give her the gun, Buddy," she commanded her driver. The car jumped ahead. Sheriff Dederick leaped to its side by the woman as the machine careened over a rough road in an attempt to shake him off.

It ended in town when the woman threatened. "Get off, you rat, or I'll blow you to hell."

She produced a pistol and the sheriff fired.

Harris said the woman was Mrs. Louise Horton and that her husband had been in the bootlegging business for some years. The husband was said to be serving a year for liquor possession in Cottonwood Falls, Kas.

CHINESE ARMIES AGAIN BATTLING; CASUALTIES HIGH

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—President Chiang Kai-Shek, generalissimo of the nationalist armies, has launched a determined offensive in the neighborhood of Teng-feng, according to the Shanghai correspondent of the Sunday Observer.

Tales of thousands of casualties on both sides continue to drift in from the fronts where heavy fighting is reported in progress.

The nationalists launched their offensive on Friday, and latest reports from the Teng-feng region claim the kuominchun, or revolt-fighting forces, have lost 40,000 in killed and wounded since then, while the nationalists admit of 20,000 casualties.

Claims by the Nanking government that it has won an important victory are generally disbelieved in Shanghai.

N. Y. May Abolish Fourth Felony Law

ALBANY, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Repeal of the fourth offender felony law will be urged at the 1930 session of the state legislature. Under this statute, judges are compelled to mete out life sentences to criminals who have been four times convicted of a felony.

Upwards of 35 persons have been sent to prisons in this state for life since this law was placed on the statute books four years ago. It was sponsored by the Baumes Crime Commission.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt recently pardoned a man who had been sent to prison for life as a fourth felony offender. He had been convicted each time for forgery, committed the governor said, while he was under the influence of liquor.

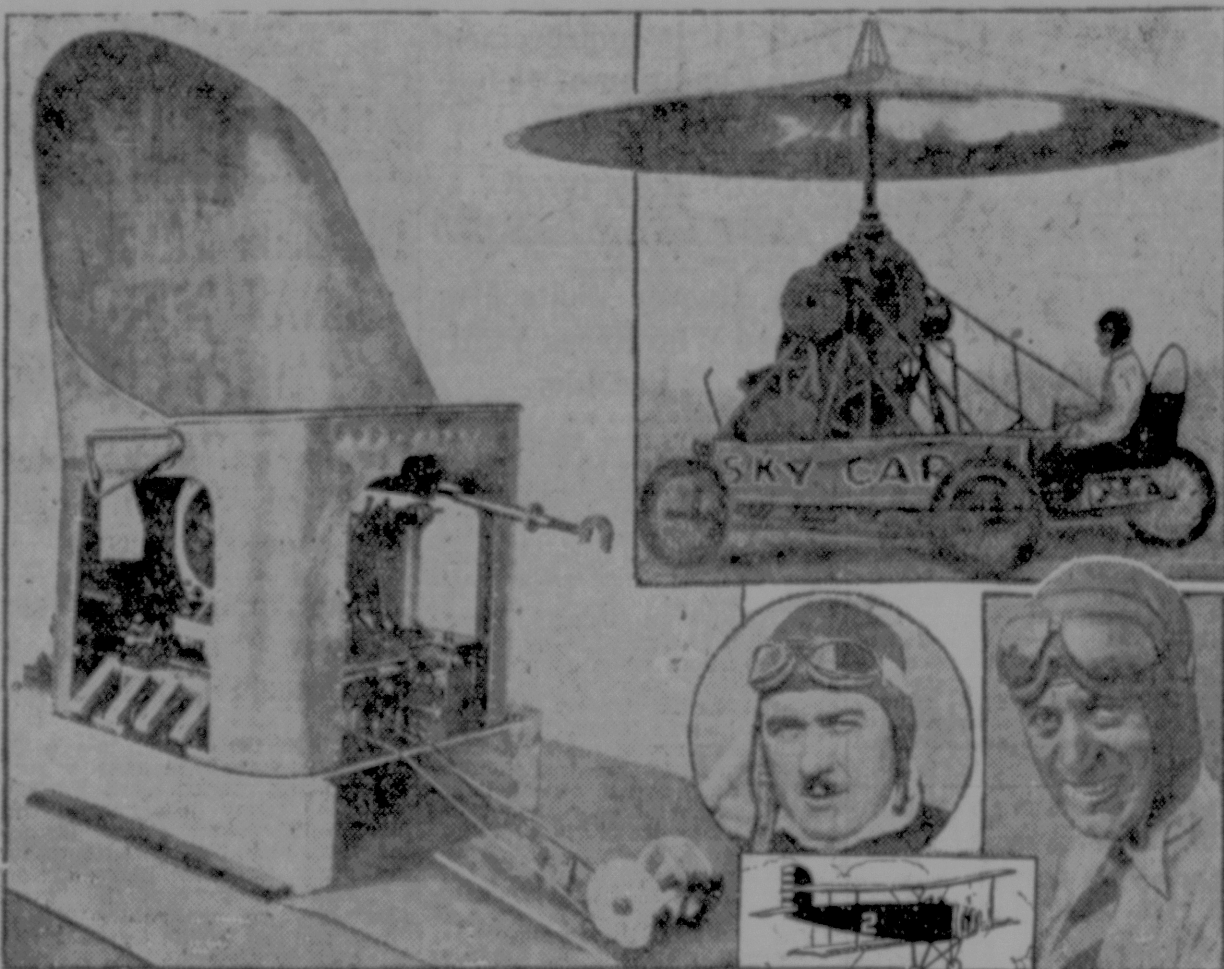

DETROIT WOMAN IS FOUND SLAIN

DETROIT, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—The body of an unidentified woman, believed to have been murdered, was found today in a shed by a patrolman.

The body lay stretched out on the floor. There were evidences of a struggle and marks and bruises on the woman's face and neck.

After a cursory examination of the body by the homicide squad before the arrival of the coroner, belief was expressed that the woman had been attacked, robbed and murdered. The victim appeared to be about 35 years old.

Gyroscopic Robot Pilots Airplane Automatically; Umbrella Plane Also New Innovation in Aviation

(By International Illustrated News.)
One of the most complicated performances ever achieved by man, flying an airplane under all conditions of weather and darkness, has been accomplished by the use of this Sperry gyroscopic robot, at the extreme left. This, however, is not the only achievement made in conquering the air. At the upper right is shown the "Umbrella Plane," which it was assumed would be useful in case of forced landings. In a test at Royal Oak, Mich., it performed a new innovation in aeronautics, instead of flying it danced around the field. The perfection of airplanes has brought forth many instances of heroism. In the lower right is shown Thomas Carroll, who has tested all makes of freak planes for more than twelve years, with Douglas Davis, winner of the Cleveland air derby, who broke the record of flying between New York and Atlanta.

(By International Illustrated News.)
The robot has received his flying license! Flying a plane under the most trying weather conditions and in total darkness without deviating one degree from level flight is a task that is almost impossible of achievement by even the most experienced aviator. But this feat has just been accomplished by the Sperry Gyroscopic Robot, a device that has been in the making for eighteen years and has only just been perfected. The robot is a machine weighing only fifty pounds and occupies a space fourteen inches square and ten inches deep under the pilot's seat.

The Sperry device has its being in two gyroscopes, one mounted horizontally, the other vertically placed. It is connected with electro-magnets which operate controls leading to the wings and rudder surfaces. The automatic pilot is so sensitive that it detects and corrects the slightest deviation from the course, no matter how adverse the weather, and it is expected that the present successful experimental operations of this device will be of supreme importance in the aviation world, and will shortly be in use over the world. Long distance flights with the robot pilot are now in progress.

With the robot and other wonderful devices, flying a plane will

Thousands Continue to Visit Grave of Priest, Despite Cold and Rain

MALDEN, Mass., Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—For the second time within a week, William Cardinal O'Connell, head of the Boston diocese and dean of the Catholic hierarchy in America, visited the grave of the Rev. P. J. Power in Holy Cross cemetery late today.

He remained a moment, simply looking on and then departed without making any statement.

Meanwhile a almost endless procession of pilgrims filed in two long lines past the tomb of the priest where many "miracle cures" have been reported.

It was estimated more than 15,000 persons visited the grave of Father Power in the course of the day and tonight, with the prospect of a crowd of more than 100,000 persons over the weekend.

Special details of police have been assigned to duty at the cemetery.

Eight local firemen have volunteered to give up their day of rest and help the police in handling the pilgrimages among the reported cures.

Helpless on Stretchers.

MALDEN, Mass., Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Frigid temperatures today failed like the previous twelve hours of rain to prevent thousands of men, women and children from visiting the grave of Rev. Patrick J. Power in Holy Cross cemetery, where many miracle cures have been reported.

As the two long lanes of devout filed through the cemetery gates, way was made for the helpless brought on stretchers from ambulances and automobiles, for the blind on the arms of friends, for the paralyzed children in the arms of their parents, for the wheel chairs of those who could not walk and for others seriously afflicted.

More than a hundred played under the mellow moon of early morning and after dawn the crowds began to gather. Many of those here in the cold today had walked ankle deep in mud and prayed beneath a beating rain.

He took possession Saturday morning.

Adding to his sales force, Mr. Robeck plans to carry a complete line of hardware goods and auto accessories, and a metal and tin repair shop will be maintained.

After traveling for Paxton and O'Grady and the Simmons Hardware company for twelve years, Mr. Robeck started business in a small building at Eighteenth and O streets. A few years later, he moved to his present location and has conducted business there for the past ten years.

H. J. Hall and Charles E. Hall started in the hardware business here 42 years ago. The former will now devote his time to other business interests.

TRIAL OF STRIKERS TO BE LONG AFFAIR

"Rebellion and Insurrection" Case
Echo of Early Reconstruction Period.

MARION, N. C., Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—The rebellion and insurrection trial of Alfred Hoffman, southern district organizer of the United Textile Workers union, and four strikers, probably will last for two weeks longer, it was indicated tonight.

Although the trial was started Tuesday, the state is not half way through with its case, it was said by state attorneys. The defense, it was expected, will take several days in presenting its case.

Thus far the state's evidence has been designed to connect the defendants with various strike activities and meetings. A number of witnesses have been put on the stands to show their alleged "military."

The quaint charge of "rebellion and insurrection"—which was resurrected from an old reconstruction period statute—grew out of a desultory riot here between strikers and officers on August 30.

A number of special deputies are under indictment here for murder as a result of a later clash between strikers and officers in which six strikers were shot down and killed.

Damaged Plane Delays Women's Record Assault

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Ground looping as they landed from a practice spin late today, Alton Smith of New York and Bobbie Trout of Los Angeles, aviatrixes who intend to set new world records for refueling, both for men and women, broke a wheel and an aileron of their specially designed ship and consequently have delayed their takeoff indefinitely.

The damage is not serious enough to postpone their departure for more than two or three days, however, in the opinion of field officials.

Another ground loop occurred around noon when the girls were landing from an earlier practice spin, but the damage was repaired in an hour.

CHECK "UNKNOWN MURDER."

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Police here today continued their checkup on the man now a patient in a Coatesville, Pa., hospital who yesterday confessed, according to police of that city, that he had murdered his mother in New York two years ago. Police records here reveal no man by the name of Herbert De Nine, the name given by the patient, and there was no record of the murder.

Prince of Wales Takes Up Knitting; Exhibits Three Scarfs at Guild

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—The Prince of Wales has taken up knitting!

Proving that he is indeed versatile, the heir to England's crown who heretofore has specialized mainly in horseback riding, hunting, aviation, golf and after dinner speeches, three scarfs which the prince knitted with his own hands today were exhibited at Queen Mary's London Needlework guild.

The world's most eligible bachelor, however, isn't the only male in the royal family to have become proficient in the art of knitting.

Three scarfs turned out by the youngest of his three brothers, Prince George, were also exhibited. "Exceedingly well done," commented the secretary of the exhibition upon examining the scarfs.

The Prince of Wales always sends articles to the exhibition, but this is the first time he has sent his own personal efforts.

RENO, Nev., Nov. 16.—(INS)—A divorce suit instituted by Phillip C. Kauffman charging Mrs. Sylvia Kauffman with desertion was on file here today. Kauffman is the son of Victor Kauffman, publisher of the Washington Star.

A settlement is said to have been effected in which Kauffman has agreed to pay $350 a month alimony to Mrs. Kauffman. The latter is to have custody of their two children whom Kauffman will be allowed to visit.

This was Kauffman's second marriage. His first wife was Nancy Lane, daughter of former Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane. They were divorced in 1925.

U. S. BUSINESS ON A SOUND FOUNDATION

Industry Continues to Show Encouraging
Stability.

Wheat Prices Rally
Sharply After Slump
Early in Week.

BY W. S. COUSINS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(INS)—The general business situation, although naturally sensitive to the prolonged and severe stock market disturbances, has continued to show encouraging stability. It is indeed a gratifying reflection upon the solid foundation upon which American industry is entrenched that business was so strongly fortified as to retain its orderliness during a period of extreme speculative stress. In addition, the virtual assurance of additional federal income tax reductions are constructive in their bearing on the future.

The recovery in the stock market on Thursday and Friday put an end, at least for the time being, to another serious depression in security prices. After the collapse in prices of the past two weeks, it had been assumed in various quarters that definite recovery was due, but the downward movement began once more with the opening of the week, and increased in momentum on both Tuesday and Wednesday, with the result that the composite average of stock prices at the close on Wednesday were at a new low level for the year.

However, the stimulus of a further large increase in brokers' loans, making the total reduction in the three weeks since the beginning of the bear movement in excess of $2,300,000, coupled with a further lowering of the discount rate by the Federal Reserve bank of New York to 4½ per cent, should give constructive forces for the rise some tangible bullish factors to work on.

Slight Gain in Building.
Building statistics for October, although somewhat better than the statement for September, show continued decreases from the returns for a year ago. Last month's permits for new construction fell about 20 per cent below the amount for October, 1928, and the decrease extended to all geographical sections.

At a time when demand from some other sources has abated, the continued large purchasing of steel by railroads is particularly impressive. Buying of rails and also of rolling stock has attained important dimensions, while farm implement makers and building construction interests also have been active in the markets. The main contraction has been in the placing of orders by automobile manufacturers, and the falling off in this quarter chiefly accounts for the further decline in steel output. Reflecting the latter movement, the rate of production is down to 60 per cent in valley districts, while Pittsburgh and Chicago mills report operations at 75 per cent.

The course of the commodity markets, led by wheat, which was particularly linked with stock transactions, because of some speculators being involved in both markets, was very generally downward early in the week. Wheat at one time had lost half of the gain made from late May to late July, and was well below the so-called loan value set up by the farm board. At these figures, however, wheat showed independent strength and rallied sharply.

Cotton Also Rallies.
Cotton felt the general speculative unsettlement, also the effects of enlargement of crop estimates above 15,000,000 bales, falling at one time below 17 cents for the spot grade, but likewise rallying. Commodity prices as a whole were in many cases at the lowest point of the year before turning up somewhat.

The week's reduction in the bank rate brings out in emphatic form the improvement in the credit situation which has been in progress for the past several months. Since last spring time money rates have fallen about 4 per cent. Call money has been quoted as low as 5½ per cent as compared with a year's high of 20 per cent. Both acceptance rates and commercial paper rates are lower.

Regardless of the outlook for speculative industrial stocks, the bond market is clearly headed for much higher prices.

Wheat Skyrockets.
CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Wheat skyrocketed from 4 to 4½ today with general buying, stimulated by bullish foreign crop reports and more favorable export news. Offerings were light and trade broad.

Assurance by various agricultural departments at Washington that grain prices were exceptionally low, especially wheat, and promises that more action should and will be taken to stabilize the market also affected buying here.

Corn was up 2½ to 2½c and oats 1½ to 1½c in sympathy with wheat. For the week prices for wheat were up 1½ to 1½c, corn ¼ to ¼c higher and oats ¼ to ¼c down.

Heavy liquidation of wheat, influenced by the demoralization in security values, forced prices sharply lower early in the week. Deferred futures were at new low marks on the crop. Good rallies were witnessed after mid-week, however, when stock values soared and the run of crop news turned unanimously bullish.

Export business was rather heavy late and much improvement was noted in milling demand. Reports from the Argentine indicated the weather had turned warmer with more apprehension of black rust damage, which will cut down exportable surplus figures considerably. News from Germany indicated farm stocks of all grains and potatoes way below the totals of a year ago.

Corn scored good gains at times, but the general trend of the market was uneven, traders refusing to commit themselves on either side pending the outcome of new crop movement. Crop news was mixed. Country sales recently have been small.

Hogs Close Lower.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Hogs closed the week 15 to 25c lower. Moderate strength was noted at times during the period. General trend was easier. Receipts were exceptionally heavy at 199,000 against 156,000 last week and 179,000 a year ago. At eleven primary markets the supply of hogs was 53,000 larger than last week.

The best strong weight butchers were listed up to $9.25. Late with the bulk of the desirable grades at $9 to $9.20. Plainer light weight hogs ranged from $8.75 to $9.

Receipts of cattle for the week were 50,000 compared with 54,000 last week and 63,000 a year ago. Demand was active yearlings, but slack for other grades. All heavy steers are 50c to $1 lower; yearlings 25c off; cows and heifers 25 to 50c

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—The Travis county grand jury, investigating the fatal stabbing of Lehlia Highsmith, 25, Texas Supreme court stenographer, recessed today until Monday without making a report.

John Brady, 57, former judge of the Third Court of Civil Appeals, has been charged with her death. No attempt has been made, pending the jury's report, to obtain his release. Judge Brady is alleged to have stabbed her with a nine-inch pocket knife when she returned to her boarding house late last Saturday night.

Additional witnesses have been summoned for Monday. Frank Graham, Jr., who was with Miss Highsmith when Brady met her, has not yet testified.

Investigate Before You Invest

Here is a good thing to bear in mind:

When an investment proposition offers big returns with very little chance of loss, it is not necessary to send salesmen around the country letting the public in.

The next time a stranger comes to you with a "sure shot" business opportunity, ask yourself if he isn't going to a good deal of trouble in order to let you make some money. Ask yourself why he didn't let a few big financiers handle it. If a thing is safe for you, it would have been safe for them.

Before you Invest, investigate! We will be glad to obtain reliable information for you without charge.

Great Britain Seeks to Capture Market of World in Automobiles

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Britain is to make a sweeping attempt to capture the world automobile market.

The government, great financial interests, and the entire automobile trade of the country—firms making private cars and firms making commercial vehicles—are evolving a plan to secure, not only the entire British empire trade, but also the business done in the rest of the world.

Two big practical steps have already been taken. The first originated with J. H. Thomas, minister of unemployment. He called together all the big figures in the automobile trade, and told them that the biggest financial interests in Britain had suggested that the British motor industry is now producing better vehicles than the United States, and with government sympathy and backing could capture the empire markets (now worth $300,000,000 annually and estimated at $575,000,000 in five years time).

To Retain Duties. He also intimated that although the government adheres to its free trade policy generally, it will retain the McKenna duties on automobiles to keep out foreign competition.

Thomas also stated that if empire markets could be kept free for British made cars, then the seizure of the world market would be a natural consequence.

He stated that the British government is going into the industry heart and soul because of the enormous relief it would probably give to unemployment, and he asked all sections of the industry to lay before the cabinet an agreed scheme for welding the trade into one unit for the coming drive.

A committee has already been appointed on behalf of the trade.

It consists of Sir William Morris, Sir Herbert Austin and W. H. Bullock, of makers of Coventry—the "Big Three" of the British industry; they will probably also be joined by Col. A. J. Cole, head of the Humber-Tillman combine.

This committee believes that the united effort will effect:

Comparatively rapid and progressive absorption of 100,000 British unemployed in many trades.

The doubling of the British automobile export market, now valued at $35,000,000 for this year.

The eventual capture of world markets now taking $500,000,000 worth of automobiles from the United States alone; and

In two years, an increase in the employment of labor in British automobile factories from the present 250,000 to 500,000.

To Back Up Trade. The second step was the decision of the Prudential Assurance company, with its enormous financial resources, to back up British automobile trade development.

Its first act took the form of an immediate investment of $5,000,000 in Rootes, Ltd., the largest British autotmobile agents corporation to foster the trade at home and abroad.

In addition to financial aid, the government also proposes to arrange extensive overseas trade credit facilities and a vast empire organization of service and spare parts stations. It will also give financial aid to freightage and insurance.

The automobile trade in Britain has never received such a fillip before and its hopes now are more than rosy.

Man is Jailed for Giving Bogus Check For Wife's Funeral

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—(INS)—Believe it or not but: Richard I. Webber of Brockton, pleaded guilty to paying his wife's funeral expenses with a worthless check and was sentenced to serve from two and a half to five years in state's prison.

For disgusting himself with a 15-cent moustache and robbing the national bank at Smithfield, R. I., of $2,800 Carl G. Hockett of Uxbridge, was sentenced to serve fifteen years in Rhode Island state's prison.

Dog Credited With Saving Man's Life

MILFORD, Conn., Nov. 16.—(INS)—His collie dog is given credit for saving the life of John P. Smith, local business man, who collapsed on his porch in the absence of his family. The dog raced into the street, circled a truck repeatedly until the driver slowed up, and then raced back to the porch and barked loudly.

The truck driver then noticed the prostrate man and sent for a doctor, whose aid was timely.

Discipline Children To Produce Character

ALBANY, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Too much self expression for children may develop a race of "mollycoddles," lacking sturdiness of character and self restraint, in the opinion of Dr. James Sullivan, assistant state commissioner of education.

Discipline produces character," Dr. Sullivan said. "The danger in this new type of education is that in the extreme application of it, children get the lifelong habit of choosing the easiest way. By learning to do only what strikes their fancy they are unprepared to do what life may demand."

For Farm Education

Dean N. W. Mumford of the University of Illinois, in an address before 150 Illinois bankers and land appraisers at Urbana, Ill., stated that agriculture faces the alternatives of peasantry or better education for farmers.

WEAVER URGES RED CROSS AID

Governor Asks Public To Support Annual Roll Call.

Public attention is directed by Governor Weaver, in a statement issued Saturday, to the annual Red Cross roll call now being conducted in Nebraska and throughout the country. This is the time each year when the organization makes its canvass for funds to carry on its regular activities in the ensuing year. The governor's comment is as follows: "The annual Red Cross roll call takes place between Armistice day and Thanksgiving. A survey of the splendid relief work accomplished by this organization justifies our continued interest and support. As a great organization created by congress and efficiently and honestly administered, it has proved indispensable in times of disastrous floods, fires, tornadoes and wars. "During the past year 117 disasters in the United States and three in our insular possessions demanded and received relief from this source. More than 85,000 people received aid. In the West Indies hurricane which brought destruction of both human life and property, more than 700,000 people were given assistance. In September, 1928, following a destructive tornado in northeast Nebraska, the loss of life and the damage to the property of our people was such that the Red Cross was placed in charge. More than $2,000 was expended for actual necessities such as buildings, household furnishings, food, clothing and medical aid. "In times of such major disasters in the community, the state or the nation, the necessity and benefits of the wonderful Red Cross organization are so apparent that I feel sure the people of Nebraska will respond generously so that there will be ample provision in the future as in the past for carrying out the splendid purposes of the American Red Cross."

STOCK MARKET STORM LIFTING

Brokers Think Trading Will Return to Normal This Week.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(I. N. S.)—Wall street brokers looked forward tonight to a resumption of normal or near normal markets on the New York stock exchange next week. As was the case this week, the sessions of the exchange from Monday to Friday, inclusive, will be confined to three hours—from 10 a. m. and 1 p. m.—and will be closed all day next Saturday. Optimism has supplanted pessimism in "the street" as a result of the rising markets of yesterday and the day before. The consensus among well informed traders and leading bankers is that the storm has blown over and no further precipitous declines in prices are anticipated. It is generally believed that practically all of the "distress selling" that has been in evidence is over with and that many investors all over the country will take advantage of what is regarded as "bargain" prices of many of the standard American issues. The gradual rise of prices Thursday and Friday after the long succession of declining markets has heartened traders on the "bull" side of the market. Another factor indicative of the trend of sentiment is the expression of several prominent "bears" that they are through with the selling side.

Nemaha Teachers In Meeting at Auburn

The Nemaha county teachers' institute met at Auburn, Saturday, November 16, with Mrs. Evelyn Grundy, county superintendent, presiding. The forenoon program included addresses by Miss Chloe C. Baldridge, director of rural education, state department public instruction, on "The 1929 Nebraska Course of Study"; by Dr. W. S. Vaughan, and President W. R. Pate of Peru State Teachers college. Langford, music director of the Auburn schools. Special music was furnished by the boys of the Hermon school and the Girls' octet of the Auburn high school.

The afternoon session was devoted to a county meeting on Parent-Teacher association work with Mrs. Chloe C. Baldridge and Mrs. Charles Lash, president of the Nemaha county Parent-Teacher association addressed the afternoon meeting.

TWO INDICTED IN BORGER SLAYING

Ex-Deputy Constable Accused of Killing District Attorney.

STINNETT, Tex., Nov. 16—(U. P.)—Indictments for the murder of District Attorney John A. Holmes, who was assassinated in Borger the night of September 13 were returned by the Hutchinson county grand jury today against J. C. Hodges and Sam Jones, former deputy constable of Borger.

Jones and Hodges were arrested several weeks ago and held in jail here without bond. The grand jury previously had indicted Hodges on a charge of violating the prohibition laws. Jones faces indictment for accepting a bribe while acting in an official capacity.

Action of the grand jury was an aftermath to the declaration of martial law and consequent ouster of all city officials following the murder of the district attorney. Holmes had inaugurated a vigorous campaign against criminals in Borger, an oil boom town, which subsequently resulted in his death.

GUARD WHO KILLED A FELLOW SOLDIER MUST STAND TRIAL

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 16—(INS)—Corp. S. Lazzarin, who shot and killed Pvt. James D. Moran when the soldier refused to halt when challenged, must stand trial before a courtmartial, it was ordered in a report filed by a board of officers with Com. E. A. Sirmeyer at Fort Des Moines army post today.

Lazzarin, it is understood, will plead self defense. He alleges Moran knocked him down when he ordered him to halt as he entered the post grounds. Both men are on the rolls of Battery F, Eighteenth field artillery.

Officials at the post said Moran, who enlisted at his home, Salamanca, N. Y., two years ago had been suspected of liquor running.

Four Churches Join In Union Services Thanksgiving Day

Four Lincoln churches have planned a union service for Thanksgiving morning to be held at the Emmanuel Covenant church, Twentieth and G streets. Services will begin at 10 o'clock. Rev. L. H. DeWolf will deliver the morning sermon with Rev. C. E. Backstrom in charge of devotionals.

Rev. C. T. Savary will read the Thanksgiving proclamation by President Hoover. During the services an offering for the City Mission Thanksgiving dinner will be taken. Music will be furnished by the Swedish Methodist and United Brethren church choirs. The participating churches are: Second Methodist, Caldwell Memorial United Brethren, Emmanuel Covenant and Swedish Methodist.

Death of Texas Girl In N. Y. Investigated

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(INS)—Investigation was being made today into the death of Miss Elmer Bell, 25, a librarian and daughter of a San Antonio, Tex., banker, who died from the effects of inhaling illuminating gas in her apartment here.

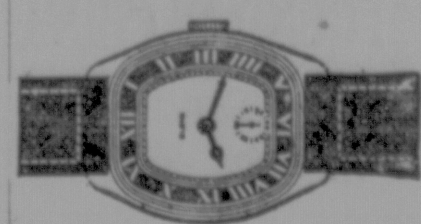

The death was described in the police records as a suicide. According to word received here from Texas, Miss Bell was the daughter of Samuel Bascom Bell, director of the San Antonio Loan & Trust Co., and prominent in financial circles.

As Rogers Sees It

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 16—The senate is meeting at night. There was a lot of things they couldn't investigate in the daytime. We are going to get lower taxes. Just think, too, lower taxes and not on a presidential year. Twenty thousand people in Missouri gathered to see twelve farmers in the world's championship corn husking. No wonder the farmer has nothing. If he had been smart enough to put these on under the guise of college athletics, hired a coach and a stadium, why then the farmer would be sitting as pretty as Notre Dame.

Yours, WILL.

Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Harrod of Crete celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home last Wednesday. They were married in Wilber fifty years ago by Rev. John B. Linske, pastor of the Congregational church. This photograph was taken on their fiftieth anniversary.

Chadron Normal

Registration for the winter quarter will occur November 25, 26 and 27. New students will register December 4, the last day of the fall quarter.

Gladys Smith of Simon, Neb., who was graduated from the college last spring began teaching in Martin, S. D., high school a short time ago.

The Rev. Mr. Philley, rector of the Episcopal church, addressed the faculty and student body on the three vital things of life, doing good, being good, and being happy.

The W. A. A. hockey tournament is now being played off. On account of the muddy field it is not progressing very rapidly, but the sophomores are leading the freshmen with a score of 4-1.

The staff for Amokasan, the college annual, has been chosen with Harriett Buckingham, president; Elmer Johnston, vice president; Clinton Gross, business manager, and Otto Kime, secretary-treasurer. The contract has already been let.

The alumni association of the college elected these officers at a recent meeting: Welmar Boedter, superintendent at Whitney, president; Kenneth Thompson, principal at Clinton, vice president; Myrtle Wheelstone, instructor in English at Clinton, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the Delta Pi Sigma fraternity entertained members of the football squad and of Psi Beta Sigma at an informal dancing party at the gym Monday. A six-piece band furnished the music, and the uke club of the junior high sang five selections between dances.

Through the influence of Professor Wilson, Dawes county is introducing a plan to redistrict, thereby to reduce cost and secure better schools.

Lee Strong, member of the squad who helped patrol on the grounds on Armistice day, is one of the staunch members of the Eagle aggregation. He has been in scrimmage during the season in spite of the loss by accident a few years ago, of an eye and a hand.

Oliver Buckingham and wife of Sterling, Colo., were among the interested spectators at the Armistice day game. Mr. Buckingham is one of nine students in the Buckingham family who are or have been students at Chadron, seven of whom are in school now. Four are in the training school and three in college. Earl, the big Eagle fullback, is a member of this family. His wife, Harriett Meader Buckingham, is a senior in the college. His mother is the very popular house mother of the Psi Beta Sigma fraternity.

The work of Professor Wilson and his committee who issued the bulletin on "Vitalizing the Teaching of the State and Federal Constitution" has been characterized as the most progressive in the country, by the Commercial Law League Journal. In mentioning the bulletin the Journal stated: "The bulletin contains a great deal of instructive and inspiring matter for teachers, and lays down a practical training course for those engaged in teaching this subject. Thus, the students of that state are being efficiently instructed in their constitution in its relation to our form of government, and are trained in 'an appreciation for, an understanding of, their relationship to society at large, including the state.'"

In spite of lowering weather at the Armistice day game between Peru and Chadron, part of the dedicatory program was carried out when the Bill Dowling post of the American Legion, under the command of Major Goddard, raised the colors on the new Chadron Memorial stadium, the gift of the alumni, the faculty, and the normal board. The Sheridan county band, under the direction of E. T. Sly, paraded with the Legion and furnished the music for the dedication. The Chadron band also furnished music for the game.

CAPTIVE PASTOR FOUND IN CHINA

Negotiations Being Made For Release Of Father Kreutzin.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—Rev. Matthias Kreutzin, who was kidnapped several days ago by a band of 1,500 Chinese, has been located at Dawangton, about thirty miles inland from the Yangtze river below Hankow. Consul General Frank Lockhart informed the state department.

Father Kreutzin still is a captive, but Catholic authorities are negotiating with the Chinese for his release. Of the 1,500 captors, about 500 are armed. They described themselves as soldiers of the Fifth regiment of the Fifth red army, but Lockhart referred to them as bandits.

Father Kreutzin was born in Calumet, Mich., and his legal residence is Cincinnati, O.

DAWES, BACK IN LONDON, PLEADS FOR NAVAL CUT

had already been reached between the United States and England and that this factor would aid in bringing the conference to a successful conclusion.

A Stepping Stone.

The January conference, he asserted, would be considered a stepping stone to further negotiations and further pacts which would better guard the peace of the world.

"The coming naval conference has been called under the aegis of the Kellogg pact," said the ambassador in opening his speech.

"Under its spirit, the great naval powers of the world will meet.

Then he pointed out that the international negotiations in regard to naval armaments were undergoing an "evolutionary process which started at the end of the World war."

The progress of the conversations between the United States and Great Britain, he said, proved that "greater effectiveness and expedition would result from the new method of diplomacy when compared to the old."

Will Continue Practice.

"Hereafter," he continued, "these informal conversations will be carried on between all the naval powers as preliminary to the consideration of the problem of armaments at formal conferences."

"It may be well, therefore, to discuss at this time this new method of approach and the basic principles underlying it, which thus far have been heavily recognized by the United States and Great Britain."

"In the first place, both governments have from the first proceeded on the assumption that all results must not only depend upon public sentiment in their own countries, but that of other powers concerned.

"Secondly, they realized that no temporary public sentiment of the people of each power would understand exactly the nature of the differences to be solved."

"Thirdly, they realized that this was the basis for general constructive public judgment which would insure the successful outcome of the conference."

Best Method Adopted.

"Fourthly, they realized that this accord, which would be of naval technical opinion as well as between the various peoples and statesmen in each nation, would be best reached through discussion carried on by the principals separately advised by their naval staffs.

"Lastly, they realized that not until naval technical differences are reduced to their simplest terms can there be any proper statement of these differences which the general public will easily understand."

The ambassador after disembarking from the Homeric at 2:50 o'clock this afternoon took the first train for London and arrived here at 6 p. m., after his "flying visit" to Washington and his home in Chicago.

Only an hour later he presented himself at the dinner.

ALABAMA FACES SERIOUS FLOOD AS RIVERS RISE

eral miles below Selma, where the Alabama and the Cahaba converge, was a result of the present flood. The Alabama river had reached a stage of 41.7 feet at Selma today, or 8.7 feet above flood stage.

Highway traffic was partially paralyzed throughout the state today, while in many places water had covered railroad tracks. Crop damage was estimated at $2,000,000, with 15,000 bushels of corn reported destroyed in Elmore county.

One death thus far has been reported, that of a man drowned near Tusculum in the northern part of the state.

Jackson Danger Point.

With Elba, Brewton and Flomaton, the cities which bore the brunt of the great flood in the spring of 1928, temporarily safe, the center of prospective disaster appeared to be in the Alabama-Tombigbee river area below Selma, in the neighborhood of Jackson, Ala.

Tuscaloosa county was especially hard hit by the flood, with the Black Warrior river approaching a 68 foot level, many feet above flood stage.

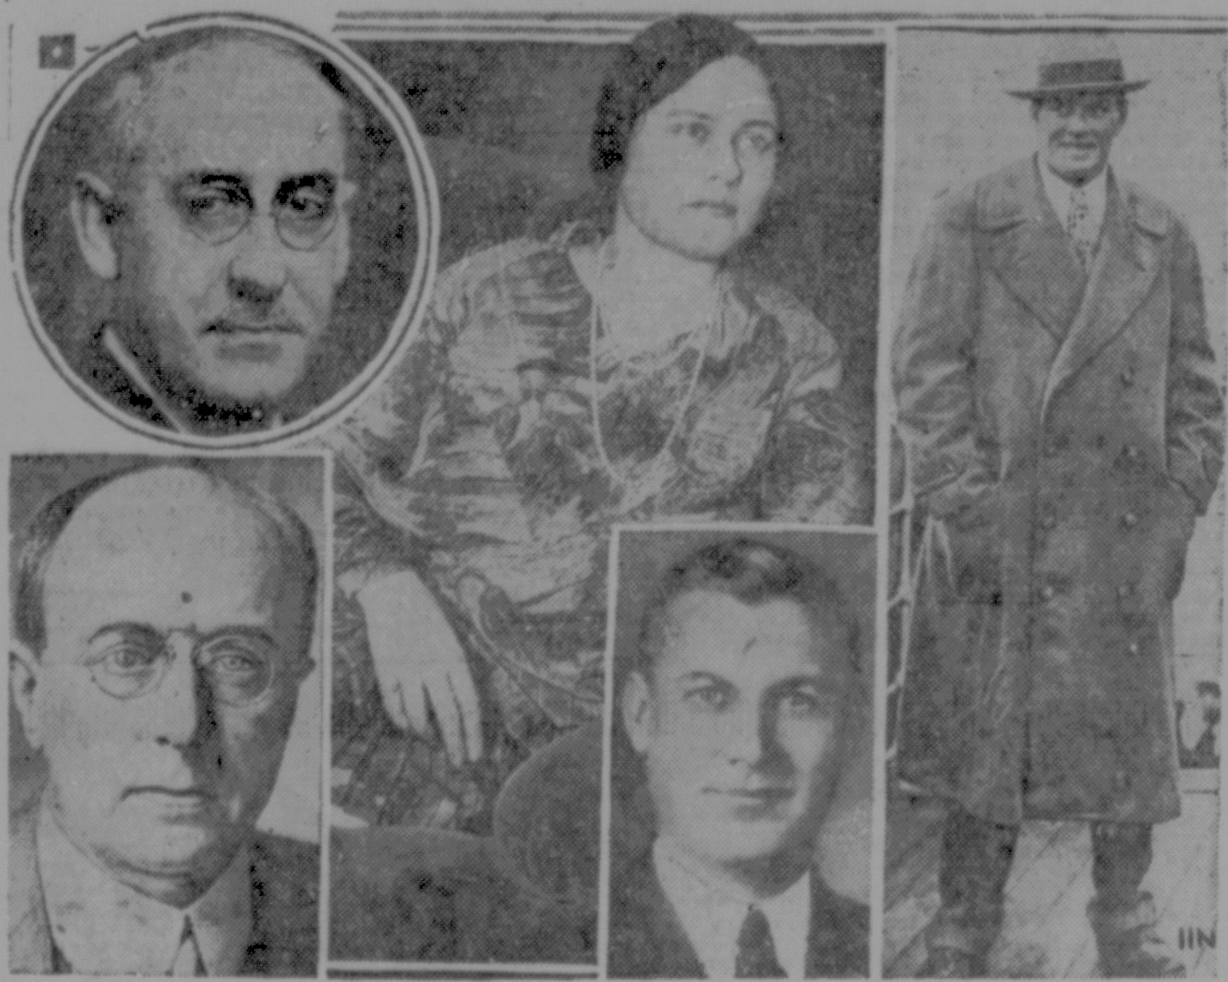

Northport, across the Warrior from Tuscaloosa, was virtually isolated, while residents in the lower sections of that city, Holt and Tuscaloosa were forced to flee their homes before flood waters.

Families in the lower sections of Birmingham and suburbs, forced to leave their homes by a great rise in the Cahaba river, were returning as rain ceased and flood waters were carried down stream toward Centerville and Selma.

The Birmingham-Atlanta highway, via Rome, Ga., was closed and traffic was rerouted through Montgomery.

Lowlands of all main arteries of the state, the Alabama, Coosa, Tallapoosa, Tombigbee, Cahaba, Black Warrior and Conecuh rivers, were inundated by flood waters.

Preliminaries of Fogarty-Tunney Battle Open With Taking of Depositions in $500,000 Alienation Case

(By International Illustrated News.)

Gene Tunney may be through with the ring, but he isn't through with fighting. Out in the wide open spaces—Fort Worth, Tex., to be more explicit, the gong has sounded for the opening round of the great Fogarty versus Tunney battle, for a purse of a million dollars. A brilliant array of legal talent will second the principals, including Homer Cummings who will defend Tunney, and George Whitelaw, of New York, his personal counsel, Frank Wilder and Charles J. Martin will perform similar office for the Fogartys. Mrs. Fogarty's action is for breach of promise for which she asks $500,000, while John Fogarty is bringing a suit for alienation by which he seeks to put another half million in the Tunney family fortune.

The purpose of the present hearing is to take the depositions of over 100 witnesses to save the expense of bringing them from Texas to Bridgeport, Conn., where the cases will actually be contested. There are witnesses who will offer testimony that the Fogartys were living happily together until she met Tunney in Hot Springs, Ark., where he was in training. Mrs. Fogarty will offer additional witnesses to testify that they saw her in the company of the boxer in Chicago, St. Paul, Little Rock, Ark., and Ponca City, Okla. Mrs. Fogarty will also endeavor to prove that she divorced her husband, a Fort Worth plumber, only at the insistence of Gene, whom, she alleges, offered to marry her, as soon as she secured her divorce. This she did in May, 1923.

Witnesses for Fogarty will offer similar testimony to substantiate his alienation action.

A host of witnesses have been assembled on behalf of Tunney to show that the Fogartys were not on the best of terms at the time she met Tunney. Tunney's counsel will also endeavor to show that the actions brought by the Fogartys are nothing else than blackmail. All in all, it looks like a very sad time for Tunney as far as publicity is concerned, despite his anguished appeals to the press to let him alone.

God had far from passed away very early in the new year, and it is not yet known whether the Fogartys will be called to the witness stand by Gene's attorneys.

BLAINE RAPS SENATE'S FARM TARIFF BOOSTS

declared the high rates were mere "fertilizer" to be used to fool the farmer.

In rewriting the agricultural schedules, the senate raised nearly every important agricultural tariff above the present law. Protests of representatives of consuming centers were overridden.

"The greater portion of the protection provided in the agricultural schedules will go to the processors, the packers, the storage people, and who will pay the price—why, the consuming public, including the farmer," said Blaine.

"Responsibility for this action will be on the heads and shoulders of those who represent the agricultural states. They say they raise rates so that the farmer can get more under the debenture. Any one may understand right now that the debenture never will go into this bill. The old guard will murder and kill it first."

He called the increase of the tariff on butter to 14 cents a pound "mere bunk" and declared that "a lot of other items in this schedule are bunk."

The "senate elders" appeared on Monday, at the special senate sessions from 10 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. upon many members who are around the three score and ten mark.

Killing Pace.

Senator Walsh declared that the senate is "traveling the pace that kills" in appealing for a brief rest. "These long hours are too much for the gray hairs and the bald-headed members, and speaking as one of the fresh young members, my heart is touched by this plea," said Norris, jocularly, shaking his own gray locks.

The senate found no difficulty in agreeing to the spirits and wine schedule in record time. Members were so tired that they did not even indulge in the debate over prohibition which such a subject usually inspires.

The sugar schedule is slated to be taken up Monday, although some members of the insurgent group want it postponed pending an attempt to reach an agreement among themselves.

Nye Fractions Coalition.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Charging the new tariff bill, as originally presented in the senate, would "harshly increase the tariff odds against the farmer," Senator Nye, republican of North Dakota, an insurgent, tonight praised the work of the democratic-insurgent coalition as certain to place agriculture on a tariff parity with industry.

Nye termed the original bill a "mess of potage" and charged eastern republicans with having attempted to arrange a "tariff banquet for industry." His speech was made over the radio in a program sponsored by the farmers' union. He said:

"These easterners, for the first time find themselves deprived of the favor of writing a tariff bill in their own language. They spent the summer decorating the Christmas tree, expecting Santa Claus to come, but when the senate convened, Santa failed to put in an appearance, and of course, bitterness followed. These easterners, with spirits mortally wounded, have resorted to calling western senators factionalists, demagogues, undesirable, more dangerous than communists and even jackasses."

He praised the progress made by agriculture toward organizing its own ranks. He predicted "greater successes for agriculture only because of a new degree of solidarity which has come to make its home among the farm people."

Looking into the farmer's future, Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, told the radio audience that tariff relief for agriculture, reduction in transportation costs and reduction of state and local taxes would greatly aid him.

The federal farm board, he said, is not putting the government in business, but is making a business man of the farmer through co-operative organizations.

AGED MAN AND WOMAN ELOPE TO DODGE RICE

LAVACA, Ark., Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—A man 87 years old a woman, is eloped here recently because of a shower of rice and old shoes. H. C. Bates and Mrs. J. A. Jordan are the happy couple.

'YOUNG GUARD'S' REVOLT HALTED

and their desire to force a vote on the tariff bill before adjourning the special session. In the latter purpose, they were known to have support of President Hoover, who appeared to congress a week ago to send the bill to conference before adjourning.

Rumors though of a revolt against Watson spread through the capitol during the day. They finally were spiced by Senator Hastings, republican of Delaware, a leader of the "young guard" after he conferred with its other members.

"Is it the intention of the 'young guard' group to elect a new leader in the place of Senator Watson?" he was asked.

"Personally, I have no such thought as that and I know of no one else in our group who has such a purpose," Hastings replied. "I have spoken to a half dozen other members of the group and all are as emphatic as I am in declaring our loyalty to Senator Watson. That's no bushwhacking; that's the truth."

McNary is Satisfied.

To this Senator McNary, named in the rumors as Watson's successor, added: "I am perfectly satisfied with Senator Jones' leadership. He is doing the best he can. When Senator Watson returns there will be a general dissipation of all the confusion that has existed recently."

Privately members of the "young guard" declared they had intended only to strip Reed, Moses, Bingham and Edger of the power these easterners had expected during the waning of the tariff bill. They explained that they felt the republican party was being placed in a "false light" before the country by Reed's championship of so-called "Grundty rates," by Moses' quip about "western" some of the wild jackasses," by Bingham's employment of a paid lobbyist and by Edger's defense of highly increased industrial rates.

With the tariff bill out of the way and with Watson returned from a Florida vacation in good health, the regular republicans will be reunited, they said. After that, the warfare will be directed against the democratic party and those insurgents who desert the republican colors.

"Stay Out," Says Metcalf.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Senator Jesse H. Metcalf, republican, of Rhode Island this afternoon requested the republican senatorial campaign committee to "stay out of Rhode Island" unless requested to enter by the republican senatorial nominee.

This request, sent each member of the committee, was interpreted by some observers as a direct blow at Senator George H. Moses, republican of New Hampshire, committee chairman, who recently described western opponents of the tariff bill as "sons of the wild jackasses." Others looked upon it as evidence of a Metcalf-Moses personal feud since Metcalf recently was dismissed as chairman of the committee and the post given to Moses.

The committee comprising Senators Moses, Hatfield, Vandenberg, Patterson, Hebert, Thomas (Idaho) and Steiwer, will meet next week. There may be some agitation then to remove Moses but there seemed little likelihood of it succeeding, since he is said to have had President Hoover's endorsement for the post.

SAY TREASURER SHORT OF CASH

has held various positions at the courthouse in Franklin county for 12 years, more or less. He is now serving his second term as treasurer, his salary being $2,000 a year. Formerly he was deputy in the same office, and prior to taking that job he was county clerk.

His wife has been assisting him in the treasurer's office and drawing $800 a year for her services, this being the limit allowed for a relative of an officer under the Nebraska anti-nepotism statute. A young woman is deputy and gets $1,250 a year.

State Accountant Sommer, who returned Saturday from Franklin, said he understood that the county attorney would begin proceedings to oust Treasurer Carter within a few days.

Psychologists Suggest Help for Flaming Youth

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—The spiritual sickness of flaming youth was proffered the following remedy by various sociologists and psychologists who spoke here this week:

Guide youth, don't goad it. Slip it religion surreptitiously. Give it responsibility to lessen its indifference.

Do away with the shams, superstitions and the old hocus pocus and give it stark reality. Give it beauty, intellectual recreation and vital religious contacts with genuine personalities.

Willock, retired steel magnate, and his bride of a week, Adele Ingruit, Eisen-haired Norwegian maid, formerly in the Willock household, as they appeared in their $3 a week furnished room at Oyster Bay. Willock, Jr., said his son was welcome home any time, but not his servant girl bride.

SECRETARY GOOD IN A DESPERATE FIGHT FOR LIFE

Washington late tonight. He went directly to the Good home, where with the family he awaited reports on his father's condition.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—The fact that Secretary of War Good was holding his own against the ravages of blood poisoning growing out of an operation for appendicitis gave physicians cause for encouragement tonight, although no change was noted in the condition of the war secretary.

"There is no change in the condition of Secretary of War Good," an official bulletin issued from the white house at 7:45 announced. "He has held his own. His physicians have reason to feel some encouragement."

Physicians attending Good will hold a consultation tonight, it was announced after which a bulletin giving more an informative report on the secretary's condition will be issued.

Clings On Tenaciously.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—James W. Good, secretary of war, still clung tenaciously to life tonight, fighting desperately against the general blood poisoning and other complications that have set in since his operation for acute gangrenous appendicitis Wednesday.

Everything depends on the 63-year-old cabinet officer's powers of resistance. The physicians have done all that medical science can do for him.

Although this afternoon marked the end of the seventy-two-hour period usually regarded as the critical stage following abdominal operations, Good had far from passed his crisis. Rather, he was in the midst of an extremely dangerous one.

A Glimmer of Hope.

Walter Reed hospital doctors claimed a glimmer of hope from the fact their patient had lived out the last twenty-four hours. His pulse, respiration, and temperature all were reported as "better" at 5 o'clock this evening, but admittedly the margin of improvement was decidedly narrow and all have been alarmingly high.

This afternoon Mrs. Herbert Hoover motored to the hospital and visited Mrs. Good, who has kept a day and night vigil by her husband's bedside.

Four Autos In 1895; 53,091 Dealers Now

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—There were just four automobiles registered in the United States in 1895, according to an interesting set of statistics compiled by the Chicago Motor club. As an indication of how the industry has grown in three decades, the club points out that 4,024,590 passenger automobiles alone were manufactured in the United States and Canada in 1928.

There are now 53,091 motor vehicle dealers in the United States. Consumption of gasoline in 1929 is expected to exceed 15,000,000,000 gallons, the motor club estimates.

Honor First Doctor in Naming of Year Book

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—"Imhotep" was the name selected for the Boston university 1930 year book.

Werner Mueller, of Jamaica Plain, who suggested the name said that Imhotep was a famous Egyptian, the first member of the medical profession to be listed in archives of history.

Daniels Comments.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—"Now that all the little sheep have been shorn in the $100,000,000 stock crash, President Hoover calls the business men to stabilize the markets for the Rockefeller, Mellons and such who bought in near the lows," commented Josephus Daniels, war time secretary of the navy, here to speak at the City club today.

"It is important that the market be settled now. Not so important before. Meanwhile Andrew Mellon offers a one per cent tax cut as his bid toward making up for the billions lost by the little fellows. Isn't it the bunk?" Daniels said.

The gray-haired man who sat in President Wilson's cabinet struck at utilities stocks in particular.

"Wall street has been a blue sky heaven with everybody from Hoover to the financiers preaching our marvelous prosperity while mergers of five $1,000,000 companies were allowed to sell $25,000,000 in stock to the general public, the suckers in this drama."

"Well street kept telling us how fine everything was as long as it could sell more of these stocks. As to the power trust it is the greatest danger facing the country today."

"Public utilities stocks have rocketed while super-mergers were made without control. These stocks should never be higher than a fair value on the real investment would justify. The country won't stand for the power trust seizing our natural resources for huge profits."

In speaking at the City club at noon on "Forts of Folly," he assailed the strongholds of big navy and big army men whom he termed a men-movement for world peace.

William Howard Taft, Newton D. Baker and the late Theodore E. Burton would pay a tribute to Daniels for the part they have played in the movement for world peace.

Despite the protest vote against the election of Alfred E. Smith, Daniels asserted the south remains safely democratic.

QUAKE RECORDED.

PAENZA, Italy, Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—A violent earthquake of three hours duration was registered on the seismograph at Paenza, near the town of Benevento, Italy, today. The quake was estimated to have been about 6,000 miles eastward.

TROOPS READY FOR RIOTS AS MEXICO VOTES

Jose Vasconcelos, anti-revolutionist party candidate, is opposed to Pascual Ortiz Rubio, national-revolutionist party standard bearer for president.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—With troops in readiness at strategic points to prevent bloodshed or disorder, Mexico will elect a constitutional president tomorrow to succeed the late Alvaro Obregon, assassinated by a religious fanatic last year.

Emilio Portes Gil has been provisional president since the assassination of Obregon, who was president-elect. As successor to Plutarco Elias Calles, Portes Gil has carried on the policies of the national revolutionary party, which has nominated Pascual Ortiz Rubio for president.

Ortiz Rubio is opposed by Jose Vasconcelos, candidate of the anti-revolutionist party. Manuel Perez Trevino, president of the national revolutionary party, seconded today a statement by Luis Flores de Haedo, in which Flores charged that Vasconcelos was attempting to start an armed force against the government. Perez Trevino said the speeches and conduct of Vasconcelos since the beginning of the campaign indicated he hoped to win through force of arms.

Certain to Fail.

"However," Perez Trevino said, "we have not permitted this possibility to worry us, because we realize that any such attempt shall certainly fail."

At noon today, in preparation for possible election disorders, the police and military forces were ordered to their quarters to be prepared for action. The capital was quiet, but disorders were reported at Tampico and Ciudad Victoria, state of Tamaulipas.

Felipe Canales, acting secretary of the interior, said the governors of the states had replied to instructions of the federal government by promising to preserve order within their jurisdiction. Both the northern and southern frontiers were ordered closed until 5 p. m., tomorrow.

Border is Closed.

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, Nov. 16.—(U. P. S.)—With everything lashed down tight, Nogales awaited a stormy election day tomorrow.

The border was closed this afternoon until after the polls close tomorrow night by order of President Portes Gil in Mexico City, who apparently feared last spring's revolutionists might cross and start riots. All saloons were closed tonight.

Leading supporters of presidential candidate Jose Vasconcelos have been released from prison after strong protests of their fellow adherents, and have been assured full protection during the election.

Thirty-five hundred additional troops are stationed at strategic points in the state of Sonora to maintain order.

American hardware stores in Nogales, Ariz., have been asked to refrain from selling guns and ammunition.

legalized status in Nebraska, its progress is blocked by the later enactment which requires applicants to pass two different examinations. No complaint has yet been heard from the osteopaths, but some of them are thought to be getting nervous over what the present situation may ultimately lead to.

The "drug doctors" are credited with having put over a fast one when they got the basic science law passed. Attempts to secure its repeal will undoubtedly be made in the next legislature by those against whom it seems to be operating.

The Wall Street Scene

Amid Awesome Man-Made Canyons, a Trancation Is Loudly Consummated.

Scene in front of stock exchange as trading resumes more normal trend—looking down Broad street, from Wall, with the stock exchange on the right, and J. F. Morgan & Co. on the extreme left.

BY CENTRAL PRESS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Hasty impression of New York's financial district as the stock trading panic subsides: Wall street, with hundreds of boys—messengers from offices—liding along, yelling at one another in fun, in the crude manner of New York boys.

Many of them women, walking along, disappointed. No riots. Merely calm, and office boys. Policemen sent to guard not as tour guides, pointing out the stock exchange and J. F. Morgan & Co., both at Broad and Wall street.

Bomb explosion here nine or ten years ago. All the marks never erased from Morgan structure.

Walk along Broad, slightly winding, tall buildings on each side, roadway boarded (another subway being built). Pass the stock exchange. One man looks like a tourist in a movie. Stopped, he is talking fondly in the chill breeze to another man.

All the other folk—office boys, girl workers, clerks, clerks with grim, hopeless faces. Hot coffee, a roll or a cake. Suddenly a controversy! A dispute over a financial transaction. An office boy has deposited his nickel and the automaton slot won't open. He wants his nickel back.

The sign was wrong. The article cost two nickels. He refuses to pay, yells for his nickel. Man-agers come running. He gets his nickel.

The only visible financial transaction on Wall street—where billions are lost.

BANKER CALLED IN LOBBY PROBE

Claimed Kent Partially Blamed Coalition for Stock Slump.

Committee to Go Deeper Into Sugar Investigation on Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—The Senate committee today decided to branch into new fields by calling Fred I. Kent, director of the Bankers Trust Company of New York, to explain his reported statement that the senate coalition contributed to the stock market crash by its attitude on the tariff.

Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, chairman, announced that he would summon Kent on the request of Senator Hawes, democrat, Missouri. No date was fixed.

The resentment which coalition leaders have manifested toward Kent since he gave the reported interview to New York papers burst forth when Senator Hawes took the floor.

Propaganda, Says Hawes.
"I believe that this is plain propaganda—an attempt to swerve the senate from the path it has taken on the tariff bill," said Senator Hawes. "Any one who knows anything knows that the senate had nothing to do with the stock exchange situation."

The first objection to Kent's statement was voiced by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, who posed an investigation of the stock exchange.

Sugar Men Summoned.
The lobby committee is slated to delve deeper into the sugar lobby on Tuesday. Among those who are to be called are John H. Carroll, Washington attorney, who, according to Herbert C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Co., was employed to defend Cuban sugar interests. It is reported that his employment developed from fears of American owners of Cuban sugar plantations that the United States would intervene as a result of widespread attacks on the regime of President Machado.

Stephen H. Love, president of the United States Beet Sugar association, seeking a higher sugar tariff, and W. L. Petriken, president of the Great Western Sugar Co., and Dr. W. R. Cathcart of the Corn Products Refining Co., also are to be called.

Cathcart will be asked if his company joined hands with the United States Sugar association in seeking tariff benefits for each other.

Teaching, Not Preaching Is Chosen As Life Work By Majority Of Students At Wesleyan

The teaching profession, with business and the ministry running a slow race for second and third places, holds the greatest appeal for the students at Nebraska Wesleyan university, according to a recent survey.

Of the 109 members of the senior class, of whom 57 are men and 52 are women, nine men and 27 women will enter the teaching profession upon graduation. The ministry will claim ten men, business eight men and one woman, and seven men will continue their studies to become doctors.

Donald Day, president of the senior class, lives in Lennox, S. D., where he was graduated from the high school. He was a letter man in debate in high school and served as president of his class three years. He is a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, vice president of the interfraternity council, of the Blue Key, and of the college council. He is president of the Everett fraternity and business manager of The Coyote, the university annual.

More Juniors.
The junior class includes but a few more than the seniors. They lean towards the teaching profession about equally with the seniors, shy a little more at the ministry.

The class presidents and faculty advisors of classes of Nebraska Wesleyan university are shown in this group.

Briggs Is President.

The sophomores for the most part have not yet indicated their major studies. A partial census revealed a distinct leaning towards education, with piano and history as poor second and third. Teaching is the future vocation of 32 women among the sophomores; business, ministry, and engineering will claim the devotion of nine, seven, and seven men, respectively. Lyle Briggs of Falls City, Mo., the captain of the football, basketball, and track teams, and he played baseball. He was business manager of the year book and was in the cast of the senior class play. In Wesleyan he is a member of Phi Kappa Tau, and of the college council. For two years he has been on the football team and is a member of the track squad.

Freshmen Undecided.
Major studies are not mentioned in connection with the freshman class, for in the main their intellectual pabulum is what is set before them. Not until they are well into the second year are they asked to declare their departmental interests. As to vocations a partial census shows that nine men and seventy women plan to teach. Business will claim 12 men and three women; ministry and engineering ten each; and various branches of music eight women. Harland Underkofler of University Place guides the fortunes of the class. He completed his preparatory studies in Nebraska Wesleyan university high school. Outside of the class room he supported basketball and debate. He is a pledge of Delta Omega Phi, a baritone in the men's glee club, and he sings in the Wesleyan mixed chorus.

Preference for vocations as seen in a partial census may be briefly summarized as follows: teaching, 186; business including banking, 41; ministry, 32; medicine, 22; music, all branches, 19; law, 18; engineering, 17. Out of 488 returns, 23 omitted to specify as to vocation. This investigation uncovered but one farmer. Seventeen other vocations are represented by numbers ranging from eight to one.

Ohio Man, Courier for General Custer, Tells New Story of Leader's Death

GENEVA, O., Nov. 16.—A touching and enlightening tale of heretofore mysterious circumstances regarding the heroic death of General George A. Custer, killed in the massacre of the Little Big Horn during the Civil war, was recently divulged by Phillip Wanger, 84, Indian fighter and courier, now a farmer living near here.

Because the message Wanger had been entrusted to deliver to Custer arrived too late to be read by the famous leader, the aged courier never cared to discuss his perilous ride through Indian country and the spectacle that dimmed his then youthful eyes at the termination of the ride.

Custer Surrounded.
Born in Belgium in 1845, Wanger was an infantryman assigned to Company K of the second United States infantry. His five years service was spent for the most part in the saddle. He was bugler and orderly to Capt. Sam McKeever of the second.

On June 25, 1876, Custer was hard pressed. His supporting columns had failed him. A number of couriers were sent out for aid, but history records that only one other man besides Wanger, a member of a cavalry outfit, was able to break through the Indian lines.

When Wanger had completed his long ride from Powder Creek valley to the place where Custer had fallen with his regiment in the rocky territory of Little Big Horn, he found Custer on the ground, face down. A pile of shells from his rifle and a brace of pistols were beside him.

Custer, the hero of the Civil war and innumerable Indian fights, had been dead for more than an hour. He had been shot more than twenty times. Nearly all of the soldiers about him had been scalped by the savages.

Custer Not Scalped.
Custer had not been scalped. Wanger related that he learned later from friendly Indians that even among the ranks of the savages Custer had been respected and that "he was too big a chief" to suffer such ignominy.

Wanger declares he never learned the contents of the message he was to deliver to Custer. He returned it to his commander after he had helped to bury the dead general and his ill-fated followers. In the future that followed Wanger said the message was lost at general headquarters.

Wanger readily admitted he did not join the army in 1875 to be an Indian fighter, nor was a career of thrills his purpose in enlisting. He declared he joined the infantry, because jobs in Cleveland were so scarce he could not earn enough to eat. The army post paid him $13 a month. Of that he saved $10 each month and sent it to his mother.

Claims Vets Dying From Lack of Hospital Beds

Commander Murphy Charges Insufficient Facilities to Treat Ex-Service Men.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—Insufficient hospitalization facilities is causing the death of disabled World war veterans at the rate of fifteen a day, W. J. Murphy, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, declared here tonight.

"There are not more than 100 vacant beds in all the government hospitals," Murphy said, "and there are more than 10,000 veterans in need of treatment who cannot be cared for."

"General Frank T. Tines, director of the United States veterans bureau, told me a short time ago that the reason it is so difficult to provide adequately for disabled veterans is that the American people are beginning to consider them charity cases instead of heroes," Murphy said.

Murphy spoke at a meeting of the Schumann-Heink post of the Disabled Veterans. He is here on a tour of inspection which will include a visit to the veterans hospital tomorrow.

STOCKS HEADED UP, SAYS BABSON

Believes Speculators Are Temporarily Eliminated.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—Roger W. Babson, prominent statistician, told the chamber of commerce here today that he believes a rapid upturn is due in the stock market.

The decline is over, he predicted, adding "there should be great opportunities for recouping losses and making even larger profits."

The Boston financial expert declared investment trusts were a prominent factor in the decline, but said a falling off in business was the fundamental cause. Investment trusts had raised security prices to fictitious levels, Babson declared.

Speculative buyers of stocks, who have been the backbone of the buying movement, are now all fed up on stocks and most of them are through for "some time to come," Babson said.

The pep is gone from the market and the buying power has been crushed. No amount of optimistic interviews or statistics on fundamentals can bring these people back into the market for some time to come.

Pennsylvania Seeks Old Church History

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—The history of early churches in Pennsylvania is to be carefully studied in preparation for a debate over which of two claimant churches is the oldest west of the Allegheny mountains.

Rev. Martin Luther Peter, pastor of the St. John's Lutheran church of German township in Fayette county, has challenged the claim of the Zion Lutheran church in Westmoreland county that it is the oldest congregation west of the Alleghenies.

Rev. Peter has offered to debate his contention, he has told Rev. Ellis B. Burgess, D. D., president of the Pittsburgh synod of the United Lutheran church of America, but an opponent has not yet been found.

Annulment of Finland Dry Law is Demanded

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—The Supreme court of Finland has demanded annulment of the prohibition law now in force in that country.

Killed in Airplane Which He Invented

LINCOLN, Ill., Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Capt. Ernest J. Capen, head of a flying school here, is dead today, a victim of his own invention—a new type monoplane.

Captain Capen took his plane aloft late yesterday on a test flight. When he reached an altitude of approximately 500 feet the machine started its death plunge, crashing to the Chicago & Alton railroad right of way a mile north of Lincoln. Both the pilot and the plane were almost consumed in the flames before rescuers could reach the scene.

Capen came to Lincoln about eighteen months ago to establish an aviation school and factory. Previous to that time he had been "stunt" flying at state fairs and during the World war was an instructor at Kelly field, Texas.

SMITH LEADING HAWAIIAN OPEN

Missourian Forges Ahead With a 70 in Honolulu Tournament.

HONOLULU, Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—Horton Smith, the young professional from Joplin, Mo., took the lead today for first honors in the Hawaiian open golf tournament by turning in a score of 70 today for an aggregated 143.

The young Missourian, who attracted a large gallery, has shot consistent golf during the tournament, having a 73 for the opening round and a 70 today, the latter figure being two strokes below par.

Those who seemed assured of leading places fell rapidly as late starters came in. Cal Wood led today's field with a 69, three strokes below par which, added to his 75 yesterday gave him a total of 144 for the two rounds. Tony Miyamoto, Japanese open champion, finished today's round with a total of 146, while Gene Sarazen was next with 147.

There are six women members of the organization.

The group plans to develop an insurance arrangement for all members.

Thousands of Afflicted Persons Have Visited Priest's Tomb Since Miraculous Cures Have Been Reported

(By International Illustrated News.)

Ever since the miracles have been reported from the grave of Father Patrick Power in the Holy Cross cemetery, at Malden, Mass., a daily procession of people, some well and happy, pay homage at the holy shrine. Others, afflicted with various bodily ills, animated with faith, entreated with hope that they too may win health and happiness at the shrine. The upper picture shows a group of the former visiting the grave. At the extreme left is a group of afflicted people praying that they may be relieved from their sufferings. At the right is the shrine wherein lay the remains of the priest to whom the miracles are attributed.

Faith, the faith that can move mountains, that can heal the afflicted, that can smooth life's pathway however rough the road may seem, this faith is as strong and prevalent today as it ever was. And ever so often in this busy materialistic world of ours, it is forcibly demonstrated that the day of miracles is yet with us.

In Malden, Mass., there is a shrine, that is the daily scene of such sights as are usually witnessed at Lourdes, at Ste. Anne de Beaupre, and other holy places. Day after day, at the tomb of Father Patrick Power in Holy Cross cemetery, the afflicted come to pray that they too may be miraculously cured of their afflictions, for they have heard how others have found answer to their prayers at this modern shrine.

Not long ago, a mother was seen slowly walking with her little crippled child. Mrs. Boudreau had powers of the tomb in Holy Cross, heard in Salem of the wonderful cure at Malden, and so perhaps it might come to pass that her little four-year-old daughter, Antoinette, might be cured. Painfully, the little one walked to the tomb, and putting down her crutches, she knelt at her mother's side, despite the pain that tortured her little features.

And the miracle came to pass, for little Antoinette rose and walked without the aid of her crutches for the first time.

Since the miraculous cure of Antoinette Boudreau, the stream of people who visit the shrine from break of day until the night has increased, and it is estimated that approximately 25,000 have visited Father Patrick's tomb. Many there are who will perhaps scoff, but they will not be able to give a satisfactory reason for these cures. But they know that the basis of all miracles is implicit faith, just as it has always been, and that prayers are still heard and answered.

ROTHSTEIN CASE OPENS MONDAY

Prosecution Rounding
Up "Surprise"
Witnesses.

George McManus' Trial
Starts After Two Delays.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—With the district attorney's offices making an eleventh hour round-up of "surprise" witnesses, interest was heightened tonight in the off-delayed trial of George A. Rothstein, Broadway gambler, which is to be resumed Monday.

Rothstein was fatally shot on the night of Nov. 4, 1928, after he had been summoned by telephone to room 349 of the Park Central hotel. He died three days later without revealing who "plugged" him. McManus' topcoat was found in the room.

A number of "surprise" witnesses have come into New York secretly from various parts of the country. They are being quartered at various hotels. Some of them occupied rooms on the third floor of the Park Central on the night of the murder.

Woman May Have Seen Murder. Outstanding among these witnesses is said to be Mrs. Marian A. Putnam of Asheville, N. C., proprietress of a tea room and a woman of evident refinement. She is reported to have been the occupant of room 320 on the night of the shooting. This room is only a few doors from room 349. She came to New York occasionally on business.

She is reported to have been awakened by a revolver shot and to have looked out her door, where she saw a man fitting Rothstein's description staggering down the hall and another man run in an opposite direction, according to the story. If this is the case, a vital witness is registered at a local hotel but could not be reached tonight to say whether she will testify.

Examination of the hotel register, revealing the names of all who occupied rooms on the third floor on the night of the crime, has been made by the authorities. Detectives have been out of town for days questioning these persons. How many of them will testify could not be learned, the district attorney, Joseph H. Banton, refusing to discuss the case in advance of trial.

Expect 100 Witnesses. Fully 100 witnesses are expected to testify and the trial probably will last at least three weeks. The trial may develop into one of the most sensational in the history of New York, as the slaying of Rothstein has countless ramifications. The Rothstein case was a major issue in the recent mayoralty campaign, it having been charged by candidates that police never really tried to solve the murder.

For more than a year the question: "Who shot Rothstein?" has

Colorado Prison Break Preparations Uncovered

Fear Recurrence of October Riot
As Escape Tunnel and Weapons Are Found.

CANON CITY, Colo., Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—An electrified atmosphere pervaded the Colorado state penitentiary here today as prison officials took extraordinary precautionary measures to eliminate the sinister threat of a recurrence of the bloody outbreak of October 3 which cost thirteen lives.

Two guns were reported loose among prisoners tonight and prison officials were certain that a "master mind" was operating within the penitentiary walls with a view to completing a successful jail delivery.

On successive days prison officials have uncovered clues disclosing obvious preparations for a break for liberty.

Today, on the tip of a convict informant, officials had discovered a ten-foot tunnel running from a court between the boiler house to the south wall of the prison. In the tunnel they found blasting powder, two crowbars, two single jacks, cold chisels and other implements.

Fifty Weapons Found.

Yesterday a search of the prison revealed approximately fifty weapons, many of them crude instruments, including stilettos, black jacks and pieces of steel that might have been used as clubs.

According to Warden Crawford's informant—a trusty—nine prisoners were involved in the plot. That a grave situation exists within the penitentiary was testified before the governor's special committee investigating the riot of six weeks ago by Deputy Warden Green.

Warden Crawford announced today that the prison guard had been linked up with the recent mutiny, and that an outsider's arrest is also expected soon in connection with the outbreak.

been debated with undiminished vigor in New York City.

McManus declares he did not shoot him. Banton says he did. Banton, who took a severe panning over the manner in which he conducted the Rothstein case investigation, succeeded in obtaining murder indictments against four persons—McManus, "Hymie" Bilzer, "John Doe" and "Richard Roe." McManus was the only one of the four to surrender.

The trial of McManus has already been delayed twice. Banton said he is ready this time. McManus, smiling and confident of an acquittal as ever, appeared in the old criminal court building for trial last Tuesday. But the case was put over until Monday at the request of the prosecutor because of the illness of an essential state witness—Alvin C. Thomas, better known to the gambling fraternity as "Titanic Slim" Thompson. He has been ill of pleurisy in Milwaukee. He will be on hand next week, it was said.

Everything is now in readiness for the trial. One spokesman, Gilbert B. Thompson, was sworn last Tuesday, so the trial is technically under way. Thompson will be the first spokesman questioned Monday for possible jury duty.

"All right, father," I said laughing, "you've got me in a corner. I can't think of anything else, did I, myself with my little hatchet?" "My boy," exclaimed my father, while tears sprang to his eyes, "I am proud of you. Always remember that truth is the last word for a Virginian gentleman."

Bourrienne was educated with me at the military school at Brienne. But he was inferior to me in scholarship, and far below me in character. In fact he could not compare with me.

When I became first consul, I thought of Bourrienne and summoned him to the Tuileries. "Bourrienne," I said, "would you like to be my secretary?" The poor fellow fell on the carpet at my feet.

"What is the salary?" he asked. "I laughed and lifted him up by the ear. "There is no salary," I said. "To serve me is reward enough."

"I refuse," said Bourrienne. "You don't," I said. "You accept." Then I called to my bodyguards.

"Take him," I said, "and put him in a secretary's suit and bring him back here. As to his life, it is not possible to write it. I allowed him none. My life sufficed."

A Mother's Love for Her Son Dies; Kills Him With Gas Fumes

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—"I didn't love my boy any longer, so I just turned on the gas."

This, according to the police tonight, was the explanation given by Mrs. Klenynga Gaigal of Brooklyn, a tired-looking woman about 32, in admitting she killed her sleeping son by gas.

Patrolman George Wegman, who was summoned to the Gaigal home after neighbors smelled the gas fumes, found the son, Walter, in the bedroom. The door of the room was closed, the bed linen pulled over the head of the child. Near him on the bed was a long rubber gas tube.

Mrs. Gaigal was incoherent when she was questioned by police. After the interview she was taken to Kings county hospital for mental examination.

Her husband died five years ago. He died from gas. The authorities reported the husband's death as an accident.

Two Movie Officials Are Robbed of $7,000

DALLAS, Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—Two men, prominent in the motion picture industry, were robbed of more than $7,000 by bandits who entered their hotel rooms here last night, Dallas police announced here today.

The victims, M. N. Charles and Theophilus Fitz, both of Los Angeles, had purchased a scenario, "The Birth of Texas," from Miss Betty Blount, Dallas, for $50,000 and retired to their rooms and were unaware of the theft until today, they said.

Charles is president and Fitz is vice president of the Association of Producers of Hollywood. Charles lost $200 in cash and two bonds worth $6,000, he said. Fitz reported the theft of $225 in cash.

"The Birth of Texas" will be filmed in Texas, they said. Most of the action will center around the fall of the Alamo.

CASE AGAINST RAMSEY RESTED

Government Completes
Showing in Oklahoma
Murder Trial.

PAWHUSKA, Okla., Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—The sixth court recital of the vivid story of murder in the Osage continued here tonight as the third trial of John Ramsey, charged with murdering Henry Roan Horse, wealthy Osage moved past the half way mark.

The government closed its case today, the fifth day of the new trial, featured by admission in evidence of Ramsey's purported confession to the murder. Attorneys recessed and adopted plans for continuation of the trial.

With sudden termination of the government's case, interest centered on W. K. Hale, wealthy cattle baron, who awaited in jail here his chance to testify in Ramsey's behalf. He was returned from Leavenworth penitentiary where he was serving a "twenty-nine year term for complicity in Roan Horse's death."

A government charged Ramsey was hired by Hale to "bump the Indian off" so that Hale might collect $25,000 insurance policy held on the Indian as security for loans. Ramsey was convicted jointly with Hale at their second trial in Guthrie in 1926. Hale appealed and was reconvicted at Pawhuska last January.

Waggoner Refuses to Answer Questions on $500,000 Bank Swindle

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Charles Delos Waggoner, former president of the Bank of Teauride, Colo., who conducted a banking empire here to the tune of $500,000, "struck" today.

Waggoner, who was sentenced to ten years in prison for mail fraud, refused to answer any questions when it was attempted to take a deposition from him. The deposition was wanted by six New York banks in an action to recover the money the western banker obtained.

The prisoner at first refused to leave his cell and declared that he did not wish to take any part in the proceedings. Finally, after his attorneys urged him to appear, Waggoner went in his prison denim with a guard to the reception room, where counsel for the banks were assembled.

But when they tried to administer the customary oath to him Waggoner calmly asserted: "I refuse to take the oath."

"Will you answer any questions?" he was asked. "I will not," Waggoner replied. They took him back to his cell. He will be taken next Tuesday to Atlanta penitentiary, where he will begin serving his sentence.

U. S. MAY ACT IN FLINT BANK CASE

Government May Try
Officials If State Case
Unsatisfactory.

DETROIT, Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—The looting of the Union Industrial bank of Flint of $3,592,000 by a dozen or so of its executives and employees was in violation of the United States criminal code, United States District Attorney John R. Watkins said late today.

The federal prosecutor added that government authorities might act against the guilty persons if the state's prosecution is not satisfactorily vigorous.

"Our interest in the case just at this time," said the federal prosecutor, "is limited to a careful investigation of affairs in the bank at Flint."

"We shall defer any active interest until we have seen what has been done by the state toward punishment of the guilty persons."

The Union Industrial is a member of the federal reserve system, and this fact gives the government authorities an overlapping jurisdiction in the case, it was said at the federal building.

At the same time it was revealed that an examiner from the Chicago area of the federal reserve system has been in Flint since the first disclosures of the stock market speculation scheme of the Flint bankers.

False representations to the federal reserve bank in Chicago as to the condition of the Flint institution's finances were said to constitute the chief grounds upon which the government authorities here might proceed against the Flint banker.

Chicagoan Questioned in $400,000 Gem Robbery
In Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 16.—(INS.)—Edward Shannon, 22, of Chicago, was held here today for questioning in connection with the seven-man bandit raid on the suburban home of John E. Carson, Jr., during an elite dinner party, which netted $400,000 in jewels.

While Shannon has not been identified as one of the robber gang, his arrest followed the viewing of photographs in the rogues' gallery by guests, according to Fred J. Healy, local manager of a private detective agency.

Shannon has a "gun episode" against his record, police allege. The party was being given in honor of Miss Eleanor Cameron, a prominent society girl from Waco, Tex., who is to be married next Wednesday to Courtland Van Cleaf.

Frank Baird, financier and uncle of Miss Cameron, has offered $35,000 reward for the capture of the bandits and has doubled the sum if they are killed. He stands ready to pay $5,000 for each bandit arrested and $10,000 for the body of each bandit. Half of the sum will go to each person giving information leading to the arrest of the criminals.

Miss Shirley Asking Damages of $25,000

The second suit to be brought against Cora E. Higgins as the result of an automobile accident August 11, near Denison, Ia., was filed in District court Saturday. In this action M. Lina Shirley asks for damages of $25,000.

Kate E. Graham filed suit for $50,000 last Tuesday. Both Miss Graham and Miss Shirley were riding in the car, which upset after striking loose gravel, as guests of Miss Higgins.

Attorneys Finish Inquiry At Fort

Springs, Ark.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 16.—(I. N. S.)—Completing a week's labor, attorneys for Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight ring champion, and John S. Fogarty, former Fort Worth plumber, finished the taking of depositions here today in Fogarty's $500,000 alienation of affections suit against the fighter. Immediately after the last witness had made a statement at the private hearing which has been conducted in the offices of District Judge Dudley M. Kent, the entire corps of attorneys began their preparation to depart for Hot Springs, Ark., where other evidence will be recorded.

The depositions which were not made public here, will be read into the court record as evidence when the suit gets under way at Bridgeport, Conn.

It was in Hot Springs that Tunney and Mrs. Catherine Kin Fogarty, divorced wife of the plumber, were supposed to have met in 1925. Fogarty charges that Tunney and his wife lived together in various places during that year.

The Selz Shoe

THIS WEEK IN THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

This is the Rob Roy—a Selz Archlast model. Vigor is its keynote. Brisk fall weather means nothing to it. No hint of freakishness—just proper masculine vanity. A British pattern which fits high over the instep, curves gracefully under the ankle and rises high over the heel to afford a snug, firm feel. Observe the natural modeling of the toe, the overweight sole, leather heel. The leather is Martin's imported Scotch grain. The Selz Archlast feature provides an exceptionally comfortable support for the delicate muscle and bone structure of your arch. Very finished American shoemaking. The price is $8.

Selz shoes are $8, $10 and $12
some as low as $6

Rotary Meeting Tuesday.—The program for the regular luncheon meeting of the Lincoln Rotary club Tuesday noon in the ballroom of the Cornsacker hotel is under direction of the committee on vocational service, O. J. Ferguson, chairman.

Husking Hampered.—Less than half the corn has been husked in this county, according to farmers. The weather of the past week has kept most of the farmers from getting into their fields and many of them have made but little progress. Demand for huskers has been active and the county agent has succeeded in placing nearly every applicant for work.

Junior Red Cross Elects.—Pleasant Hill Junior Red Cross club held its fourth meeting Monday afternoon, November 14. The main topic for discussion was hot lunches. This club was organized the first day of school. The following officers were elected by the group: Vice president, Margaret Loos, vice president; Jeanette Grove, secretary-treasurer; and Phyllis Ogden, publicity chairman.

Sheriff's Hearing Monday.—Governor Weaver is to conduct a public hearing on his office Monday morning on the charges filed with him some time ago against Sheriff O. Ed Swanson of Kimball county, as the basis of a demand for the latter's suspension and removal from office. The allegations, with supporting affidavits, are that Swanson has failed to enforce the prohibitory law in Kimball county.

Lecture on Guatemala.—"Guatemala," will be the subject of the lantern slide lecture that is scheduled for the regular Sunday afternoon movie hall program at the university. Prof. E. F. Schramm will show over a hundred colored slides, prepared from negatives of pictures taken on his most recent trip to the tropics. This program will start at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Ad Club Folies Program.—"The Folies of 1929," consisting of "From Prudence to Uncle Bob" by Mrs. Jennie B. Hantorn; songs by Grace Kathman; and a short skit by members of Alpha Gamma Chi will be presented under direction of Katherine McWhinnie at the Ad club meeting Monday noon in the west balcony of the chamber of commerce. It is an Adam-less program with the exception of the hypothetical Uncle Bob.

Roads Nearly Impassable.—Dirt highways in Lancaster county are in bad condition, many of them being practically impassable, according to County Engineer A. H. Edgren. During the latter part of the week the roads froze every night and were hard enough to travel on early in the morning, but by 10 o'clock they had melted so that traffic was difficult. Wind, combined with sunshine, is needed before the highways can be put in good shape again.

Exhibit Prize Drawings Today.—To accommodate Sunday visitors on the university campus, arrangements have been made to open the former museum building from 2 to 6 o'clock today, to exhibit the twenty-second Paris prize drawings which have been sent to the university for exhibition purposes. These are the original Paris drawings that were entered in the 1929 contest, of proposed architectural masterpieces as a "Memorial to the Spirit of the West." The drawings are on display on the fourth floor of the former museum building.

Trappers Pay Heavy Fines.—Several trappers who were unable to wait until the season opened Saturday were arrested last week and paid heavy fines, according to reports received by State Warden Frank O'Connell from P. G. Hales of Curtis Sump of Miller paid a $100 fine for this offense. P. H. Deales of Table Rock was fined $50 and costs and Carl Saylor of Walthill paid a $25 fine. The season on raccoons, opossums and muskrats opened on November 16. It closes on February 15 for raccoons and opossums, but the date varies in the eastern and western parts of the state for muskrats.

Ready for Marble Wainscoting.—Workmen begin this week removing the baseboards along the halls of the south wing of the capitol preparatory to placing high marble wainscoting along the halls. This plan was adopted by the capitol commission when it was decided that the white plaster walls quickly became soiled with dirt and could not be kept clean. The marble baseboards which were originally used are being discarded and replaced by new ones. The plaster will be removed to make a place for the setting of the larger slabs, which will line the halls to a height of between six and seven feet.

Many Flocks Accredited.—More than one-third of all the poultry raisers who applied for accreditation in the Nebraska poultry improvement association now have their birds on the accredited list, according to an announcement from the secretary of the association. The following counties are among those which had large numbers of birds inspected and banded early this year: Lancaster, Buffalo, Cuming, Richardson, Colfax, Madison, Clay, Henry, Grant, West Point, and S. S. Case, Clay Center. It is estimated that 500 flocks will be inspected and banded before the end of the winter.

Universities Competing With Business Says Robert Hutchins.

American Education In Need of Systemizing and Co-Ordination.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The greatest need of American universities today is some arrangement whereby the faculties can be in a large way composed of men paid sufficiently well that they can afford to turn down the tempting offers of a business world. Until such a situation exists, progress of a fundamental sort in educational institutions can hardly be expected.

That was the summary of an opinion given after months of close study of the country's leading universities by Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the ninety million dollar Chicago educational institution. The former Yale faculty member will be 31 years old January 17.

Universities Need Aid. "The strengthening of three key point universities, to be pacemakers for all the others, is the greatest need of American universities," he said in an interview, continuing: "Today the crowd has caught up with the former pacemakers. Its time to consider the new demands. Somebody has got to crack the ice. A new pace will mean a new era in American education."

The amounts which universities are spending on projects and their facilities are shockingly disproportionate. In the last ten years the University of Chicago has received fifty-three million dollars, of which only seven millions went to a faculty numbering 772 men and women.

"If you spray a hundred million dollars over the worthy colleges in the land you might as well throw money in the lake so far as the creation of authoritative pacemakers is concerned."

See Critical Time. "I have no desire to spend more than anybody else. What I desire is to make education respectable."

Now is the critical time in American education—territorial expansion is over and we can discover our weakness and our strength. Now is the time for systematizing and coordinating the efforts of the universities. Otherwise we'll just go dribbling along.

A university is a community of scholars, and you have failed in your object unless you have the best scholars.

Business Draws Talent. "In the last twenty-five years the best minds in America have been drawn into business. Hence American universities face a new problem in competition—competition with big business for the best men. In the past we have been competing with preachers for the best men. I don't speak lightly of preachers, but success in competition with them will no longer solve the problems which universities should be solving."

The universities have fallen far behind their problems because they have not been organized on the basis of problems to be solved, but on the basis of discipline and instruction.

American universities have allowed undergraduate education to fall far behind elementary and professional education in methods and in developments. The whole undergraduate scheme is exactly where it was at the beginning of the eighteenth century—it is the great problem that has not had a concerted attack."

THOUSAND MORE SECTIONS IN NEW STATE STATUTES

There will be approximately 11,400 sections in the new compiled statutes of Nebraska, now being prepared for publication in one volume. This is an increase of about 1,200 over the last previous volume, printed in 1922, which contained 10,200 sections, the difference representing additional matter enacted by the legislatures of 1923, 1925, 1927, and 1929.

W. C. Dorsey, the compiler, expects to have "copy" for nearly 8000 sections ready to turn over to the printer by December 1. Under his contract with Governor Weaver, Mr. Dorsey was obligated to deliver half of the copy for the book on that date. The remainder must be available for the printer by February 1.

A sample style sheet has been made up in type and submitted to Dorsey and the governor and Supreme court for their approval.

APPLE SHIPPING SEASON IS OVER

Shuberts Send Out Between Fifty and Sixty Carloads.

(Special to The Star)
STELLA, Neb., Nov. 16.—Shubert Bros. have completed the apple harvest at Shubert which is the biggest apple shipping point in Nebraska. During the past season this firm has shipped between 50 and 60 carloads to various points all over the country.

This year's crop was of fine quality and was marketed at very satisfactory prices. The total yield, however, was below normal, the wet, cold weather last spring, causing many of the buds to drop off.

The crop was of about the same size as last year, but the quality of the fruit was much better this year.

BIG GREY EAGLE SHOT NEAR ANGUS

(Special to The Star)
ANGUS, Neb., Nov. 16.—While hunting squirrels near here Friday afternoon, L. A. Cox, retired farmer of this place, observed a huge bird soaring above the trees and shot at it. When it came down with a broken left wing it was found to be a grey eagle, the first one seen in this vicinity as far as can be learned.

The eagle measured seven feet from tip to tip and was in a fighting mood after brought to town by Cox. It grabbed at anything that came near it. A leather glove worn by one man was snatched in the beak of the bird and, several holes, punched through it by the curved beak. Cox shot it while it was flying, using the 12 gauge shot gun with which he was hunting squirrels along the Little Blue river about one and one-half miles northwest of town. He expects to stuff and mount the bird.

(Special to The Star)
O'NEILL, Neb., Nov. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McElvain celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on the evening of Nov. 13 at their home four miles south of O'Neill, with friends and relatives, the evening being passed with reminiscences, and refreshments being served. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Groves and her father helped build the first building in Ashland. The Groves family also moved to Brainard and there Mr. and Mrs. McElvain were married. They are the parents of six children, five of them living.

Mr. and Mrs. McElvain have lived in Brainard, Firth and Adams, he being engaged in the lumber business and part of the time also in the elevator business. His health requiring outdoor exercise he moved to a ranch southwest of Ewing in 1901 and in 1917 he bought the ranch south of O'Neill, where he still resides.

AG COLLEGE HEN MAKES NEW EGG LAYING RECORD

One hen at the College of Agriculture has just "cackled" herself into a distinctive class of birds. The cackling did not interest her keepers but the number of eggs she laid established a new record for the University of Nebraska poultry flock.

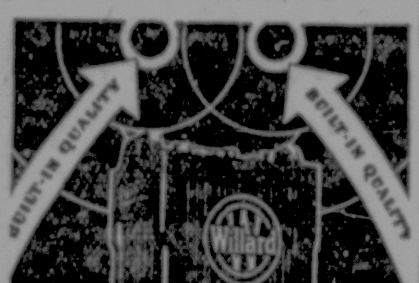

Hen numbered X-284 laid 303 eggs in 365 days. This is the first 300-egger at the college. Only a limited number of birds in the hen kingdom have reached this high production mark.

During one month this bird laid 30 eggs, her highest production for any month. Nineteen was the lowest number of eggs for any month's production.

Through the breeding season this standard bred fowl laid 63 eggs for hatching purposes, all of which were fertile. Forty-eight of them developed chicks. This would indicate that good fertility and high hatchability may be had from high producing hens, poultry authorities declared.

Another point of interest about the 300-egger is the way she continued to lay eggs in spite of outside disturbances, the attendants said. She started her record in a flock mating pen. Later she went into a breeding pen. After the breeding season she moved into another house with 125 strange birds. In the last pen she was cared for by two students from the college.

The eggs from this bird weighed well up to and above standard. They had strong shells and were of good shape. At present the hen is in good vigorous condition and continues to lay eggs.

JOINT DEBATE ON CITIZENSHIP TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Fawell, Methodist university pastor, will lead a joint debate on "Citizenship in the United States" at the regular dinner program of Phi Tau Theta Tuesday evening at Emmanuel M. There has always existed a real difference in performance between Chrysler and other cars. Today the new Multi-Range Chryslers emphasize that difference more than ever before.

Chrysler engineering has gone far in these new cars—has perfected many basic engineering improvements—has adopted from aviation a new Down-Draft principle of carburetion, adding greatly to power—and has developed a sensational new Multi-Range four-speed transmission and gear shift that completely transform even the best of the previously accepted standards of acceleration, flexibility, smoothness and ease of handling.

At the same time, Chrysler engineering has greatly improved motor car spring suspension, gaining marvelous riding ease—and has introduced new and larger bodies of unusual comfort, smartness and luxury along with "dreadnought" strength and durability.

In these new Chryslers, motoring takes on new allure, new ease, new security. The Acceleration Range combines in one gear the best attributes of both ordinary "second" and "high". You shift gears with a mere flick of the wrist—back and forth between Acceleration and Speed Ranges at any car speed—WITHOUT CLASHING—and with a new kind of eager responsiveness that is bound to fascinate and amaze you.

Arrange at once for your Multi-Range Chrysler demonstration. It is too fine a thrill to miss.
